Astrology and esotericism are two sectors that are constantly gaining more and more significance in our highly technical world. In actual fact, this appears to be somewhat of a contradiction given that more and more secrets are being unveiled by the scientific world, but maybe this somehow contributes to the return and withdrawal to the unusual, the inexplicable and the inconceivable.

The fact is, in our well-informed society which strongly believes in progress and advancement, there are a large number of, primarily female, people for whom horoscopes, lucky charms or esoteric literature have a high value.

This is a target group with a high affinity with mail order companies. Offers from the innovation, raffle/lottery, financial services and asset protection sectors as well as the classic mail order will be readily welcomed here.
