"66 years old and still no wiser..." go the amusing lyrics of a German song from the 70s. But today, things are very different. The average age of the population is constantly increasing. It's no wonder that mail order companies are concentrating more and more on this target group and their specific requirements. Whether it be vitamin preparations, food additives, salves or impotence drugs and slimming aids - products to prevent and relieve widespread health complaints or to improve your own wellbeing in all manner of ways are booming.

This is a target group which reacts positively to offers from the health and physical wellbeing sectors and also reacts well to offers in the fashion, cosmetics, house and home sectors too.
